As a farmer-owned company, we are accountable to farmers first. It is a privilege to be invited on-to farms, and with that privilege we take a role in communicating the most accurate and credible information about food, farming and agriculture. As a member of Farm and Food Care Ontario, we find great value in the member sessions that allow us to hear the current issues on the consumer side as well as the critical support needs of the agriculture sector.

We are confident in knowing we can provide support to our staff, board and farmer-owners with the tools and expertise offered through Farm and Food Care Ontario. Our collaboration with industry partners to advance agriculture is supported with FFCO helping to ensure the agricultural community is at the forefront of issues like animal care, environment, food safety and biotechnology.
